GOWANS & GRAY, Ltd., London & Glasgow

AN IDEAL EDITION.

The Complete Library

will contain the complete works of standard authors in monthly volumes of about 250 pages, foolscap 8vo, uniformly printed on fine paper from new type, and neatly bound.

PRICE, IN CLOTH, ONE SHILLING NET., IN LEATHER,
TWO SHILLINGS NET., EACH VOLUME.

This series is an attempt to combine the excellencies of the best library editions with the cheapness of ordinary reprints.

The high standard at which we are aiming in this undertaking will be evident from the following particulars :—

I.—Scope of the Series.

The 'COMPLETE LIBRARY' will contain :—(a) The works of those authors who have become standard in our own or in foreign literatures. In the case of such writers all their known works will be included, and these will be perfectly unabridged and complete. Their letters will also be given in collections as complete as possible. (b) Miscellaneous books, such as memoirs, diaries, collections of fugitive poetry, plays, ballads, etc., which are worthy of preservation either because of their intrinsic merit or from their importance in relation to the development of any national literature or to the movements of the times in which they were written.

The collection will therefore consist solely of books of permanent value, which can never go out of date, and it will thus be possible for all, by an almost imperceptible expenditure, to accumulate gradually a library of which every volume will be always worthy of its place on the shelves.

II.—The Text.

The special feature of these editions will be the care which will be taken with the texts. All the different readings, without exception, which are found in the authoritative editions (or manuscripts, as the case may be) will be given, and so arranged that the student will be able to reconstruct with perfect exactness the actual text of any of these editions.

In the case of foreign authors, this great degree of accuracy in regard to the various readings of the text is not considered necessary, but the translations adopted will be of the best, and the particular edition which is followed will be mentioned.

III.—The Editor.

Each author will be edited by a high authority on the subject, who will also write a concise introductory biography.

IV.—In Conclusion.

When necessary notes, glossaries, indices, etc., will be added, and every effort will be made to make these

1908

WITH the view of widening the scope and interest of the series—of which the present volume is the seventh—the publishers asked Mr. Laurence Binyon to select sixty from the best humorous drawings by Japanese artists. Goethe says in his “Elective Affinities” that “Men reveal their characters by nothing more than by what they find laughable,” and we cannot expect to find the Japanese, who are so entirely different from us in so many ways, laughing at the same things as we do. Their humour is in some respects of a simpler, less sophisticated, even, to us, almost childish, type; in others it is more delicate and elusive.

THE LIFE OF LOPE DE VEGA

The Great Spanish Dramatist

BY HUGO A. RENNERT

PROFESSOR OF ROMANIC LANGUAGES AND LITERATURE IN THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

THERE has been no life of Lope de Vega published in English since that by Lord Holland nearly 100 years ago.

Professor Rennert has been able to take advantage of the labours of all previous workers in the same field, and has in addition been fortunate above all his predecessors in that documents were published for the first time within the last few years by Señor Pérez Pastor, which threw a flood of light on many dark points in Lope's career.

He has made full use of all fresh data, and has endeavoured to record every known fact in the life of the poet. His biography is therefore the most thorough yet published, and in the opinion of Mr. Fitzmaurice-Kelly, the leading English authority, his biography is the standard life. It is consequently indispensable to every important library.
